Red Rose, White Rose

28 - 29/11 , 4 - 6/12 /2014

Grand Theatre, Hong Kong Cultural Centre

Love politics that has nothing to do with politics
Love is not universal suffrage but screening

There were two women in Zhenbao's life: one he called his white rose, the other his red rose. One was a spotless wife, the other a passionate mistress.

Maybe every man has had two such women – at least two. Marry a red rose and eventually she'll be a mosquito-blood streak smeared on the wall, while the white one is "moonlight in front of my bed." Marry a white rose, and before long she'll be a grain of sticky rice that's gotten stuck to your clothes; the red one, by then, is a scarlet beauty mark just over your heart.

Will you be his red rose or white?
How many red and white have you got?
Would it be more blessed to be heartless woman?
Would it be happier to be a heartless man?

David Yeung as Tong Zhenbao
The Ideal Modern Chinese Man

When a woman sees a man who's good like Zhenbao, she wants to fix him up with someone else. She doesn't even think of keeping him for herself.

Kao Jo-shan as White Rose
A Spotless Wife

Eight years of marriage and still no trace of experience. She was hollow and spotless. She always would be.

You Mei as Red Rose

A Passionate Mistress

A married woman who did what she liked was the loosest of women...
